

THE CONNECTED COLLEGE: LEADERSHIP STRATEGIES FOR STUDENT SUCCESS

Student success is in every college or university's mission. Yet barriers to retention, graduation, and employment persist. Only 65% of students feel a sense of belonging while 39% feel frequently overwhelmed and only 24% of students take a career exploration class. How can leaders in higher education work together to help students feel a connection to their communities, connect students with support services, and connect coursework to rewarding careers? Elliot Felix will share insights on these questions from his new book The Connected College: Leadership Strategies for Student Success and his work with 100+ colleges and universities helping more than 1,000,000 students.
